The Pacific Railroad.—The Pacific Railroad will have two great advantages over its competitors. 1. It will open the immense territory of China and India to commerce and settlement. 2. It will connect the two great power stations of England and France with those of Russia and America. The first advantage of this enterprise is evident. It will have a very great effect upon the commerce of the Pacific coast, and will tend to increase the wealth and power of the United States.

The Pacific Railroad is a grand scheme, and will be a great blessing to the people of the United States. It will open up vast territories, and will enable the United States to extend their influence over a large portion of the world.
