Judge Wells. We publish elsewhere an account of the proceedings of Mr. Justice Wells, of the Supreme Court, which resulted in the discharge of several men from the custody of the city authority. They had been arrested while engaged in riot ous conduct, destroying property, and resisted the officers of the law. After having been arrested with difficulty, they were released by order of Judge Wells. He did not, as he had a right to do, issue a writ of habeas corpus, requiring the parties to appear before him, but ordered them to be discharged before the writ

It was a high handed assumption of power against I w and order by a judicial officer, which has aroused the public indignation of the people of San Francisco. The press, with the exception of the Ledger and Advertiser, condemn the act in the severest language. Some of them call upon Judge Wells to resign, if he does not wish to be impeached.

Threats of a revival of the Vigilance Commit tee are uttered. The Courier as good as recommends it should be done. It is even said that the committee has had a meeting, and that there will be no getting rid of the pack of bullies and rowdies who overawe or control the Courts, until about a dozen of them are hung. Society must be in a desperate condition when its members are ready to resort to such means to preserve their lives and property-to resort, in fact, to resolving of society to its original

But what better can be expected in a commu nity, the political destinies of which are controlled by ruffians, bullies, rowdies and gamblers? It is this class of men to whom Judge Wells, in a great degree, owes his election to the seat he occupies with no great credit either to himself or the State. To the same class of voters Governor Bigler owes the office he now

O, their services are invaluable to the party.

Washington's Birth Day.

Another anniversary of this glorious epoch in our country's history has been added to the vale of years, and we are reminded of him to whom we are indebted, far above all others, for that high and ennobling position which we occupy among the nations of the earth, for the civil and religious liberties we enjoy, and the peace, happiness and contentment which rests upen our cherished land.

On the 22d of February, 1732, one hundred and twenty-two years since, GEORGE WASH-INGTON, on whom, in after life, was conferred. by the unanimous voice of mankind, the title of "Father of his County," was born.

Ordained, as it were, by Divine Providence, that he should be the defender and preserver of that soil upon which he first drew breath, that he should guide his country and his counbrilliant, majestic and enduring, and win a the wondrous rocking stone reared by the Druids, which the finger of a child might vibrate to its center, but which the united power of armies-could not move; he advanced gradually, firmly and patriotically, through the various stages of life, of childhood, youth and manhood, until he attained that elevation which proclaimed him "First in War, first in head water of Wolf Creek to Minnesota, Chips" peace, and first in the hearts of his country-

Democratic Meeting on Cache Creek, Yolo County. In another part of our paper will be found the proceedings of a Demogratic meeting, opposed to the Senatorial election this session, and instructing the member from that county to go a ainst the election; but if it is brought on, to vote for Senator Gwin. It also approves the action of the meeting at Washington, and censures the Journal for refusing to publish its proceedings. The resolutions are very well written, and express, in unmistakable language, the meaning and intention of the meet-

The people are moving, almost in solid column, against this secret coalition to bring on the Senatorial election. They will be heard upon this question, and woe to those who set at defince their expressed wishes and instructions. In Yolo county, leading democrats offer to bet, that twenty men out of the two thousand voters in the county, could not be found in favor of bringing on the Senatorial election during the present session.

FREE SCHOOLS .- It affords us no small degree of pleasure to announce that the School of the most desirable locations in the moun-Commissioners have succeeded in establishing a Free School in this city. It is, we trust, the pioneer of a system of Free Schools, which will ultimately furnish the means of a good business education to every child within her limits. The school opened yesterday, at the corner of Fifth and K streets, under the charge of Mr. George H. Peck, formerly of Vermont, a gentleman of education and experience as a teacher. We have enjoyed the pleasure of his acquaintance for the past year, and, from our knowledge of the man-his qualifications, experience and capacity, shall be much disappointed if he does not fully meet public expec-

The Alta California.

We give below the last paragraph of the editorial in the Alta containing the assault on the Union, from which we quoted yesterday. We Recovery of the Wounded Man-Mancineta refer our readers to it as another specimen of the Alta's courtesy and high regard for truth.

The Alta concludes thus :-"Regarding the result of this Senatorial contest per se we are as indifferent as any of our neighbors.
We are opposed to the policy of those men who are foremost in defeating it. We detest the course they foremost in defeating it. We detest the course they are now taking in bringing Federal paronage to bear on State affairs, and we question the motives of men who to carry their points will rob the State of thousands of dollars for the support of an establishment devoted to the advocacy of their favorite policy. The Union has ceased to complain of the cost of the State printing. In fact it seems to take pleaof the State printing. In fact it seems to take plea-sure in the printing extravagance, and has no word of censure for any expenditure that is intended to advance the interests of its Democratic supporters.
