A. Mose & Co.—Everybody who has been in San Francisco for the past five or six years, knows something of the wheelbarrow and business exhibition which was held in Golden Gate Park, San Francisco, for a number of days last summer. They were the pioneers in the business, and from the very outset carved out for themselves a place in the public estimation by their skill and business integrity. It can be said without fear of contradiction that if they were not the first real showmen to come out of California in the past six years, they are the third in order. But their success is not confined to California; their business integrity can alone account for their success. Mrs. Mose, who has managed every exhibition in California during the past six years, is the one woman who has swung the entire crowd at the fair. The following "slices" from their circular "Pulp" will give an idea of their success:

"Sunday morning—One of our caravans has been discharged by order of the courts. The claims to the property have been satisfied."

Another "Victory" from Lemos.

A trial judge has been appointed.

The trial will be held next Monday.

An ex-cop has been sentenced to six months in the county prison.

A. Mose & Co.—Everybody who has been in San Francisco for the past five or six years, knows something of the wheelbarrow and business exhibition which was held in Golden Gate Park, San Francisco, for a number of days last summer. They were the pioneers in the business, and from the very outset carved out for themselves a place in the public estimation by their skill and business integrity. It can be said without fear of contradiction that if they were not the first real showmen to come out of California in the past six years, they are the third in order. But their success is not confined to California; their business integrity can alone account for their success. Mrs. Mose, who has managed every exhibition in California during the past six years, is the one woman who has swung the entire crowd at the fair. The following "slices" from their circular "Pulp" will give an idea of their success:

"Sunday morning—One of our caravans has been discharged by order of the courts. The claims to the property have been satisfied."

Another "Victory" from Lemos.

A trial judge has been appointed.

The trial will be held next Monday.

An ex-cop has been sentenced to six months in the county prison.

A. Mose & Co.—Everybody who has been in San Francisco for the past five or six years, knows something of the wheelbarrow and business exhibition which was held in Golden Gate Park, San Francisco, for a number of days last summer. They were the pioneers in the business, and from the very outset carved out for themselves a place in the public estimation by their skill and business integrity. It can be said without fear of contradiction that if they were not the first real showmen to come out of California in the past six years, they are the third in order. But their success is not confined to California; their business integrity can alone account for their success. Mrs. Mose, who has managed every exhibition in California during the past six years, is the one woman who has swung the entire crowd at the fair. The following "slices" from their circular "Pulp" will give an idea of their success:

"Sunday morning—One of our caravans has been discharged by order of the courts. The claims to the property have been satisfied."

Another "Victory" from Lemos.

A trial judge has been appointed.

The trial will be held next Monday.

An ex-cop has been sentenced to six months in the county prison.