We have just heard of the following, in connection with the death of the late Mr. C. J. Payson, who was recently appointed the County Auditor, and who passed away but a few hours since.

The first day came upon us with a shock, one of those which seem to silence the talk of the world. We were told that Mr. Payson had been ill for some time, and that he had been in great pain and suffering. When we saw him last week, he was lying on a bed in his room, looking ill, and evidently suffering. We were told that he had been summoned to the Board of Supervisors, and that they had ordered him to report on the matter. The next day came upon us with a shock, one of those which seem to silence the talk of the world.
