NOTICE.—Our friends are respectfully informed that the accounts due this establishment will be furnished during the ensuing week—subscriptions being due on the 12th April, 1858.

San Bernardino.

The Court of Sessions convened on the first Monday of the month. Present Judge A. B. Boren; Lucian Woodworth and Thomas Dickey, Associates.

The Grand Jury returned five indictments—three for grand larceny, one for assault with intent to kill, and one for murder.

Richard Potter, indicted for grand larceny, (horse stealing,) two charges, was found guilty, and sentenced to two years imprisonment in the State Prison.

Wm. Nichols, horse stealing, guilty—two years in State Prison.

A. J. Cole, horse stealing, guilty—two years in State Prison.

The case of Heath for the murder of an Indian, was again brought before the Grand Jury and postponed, with other business—the Grand Jury having been compelled to adjourn in consequence of the illness of one of the members.

The case of E. Snyder, for killing an Indian, will come before the District Court at the present term.

The term of the District Court, for San Bernardino, commenced on Monday, Judge Hayes, presiding. There is not much business before the court. The indictments presented have all been quashed for illegality.

There has been quite a large business transacted in the horse stealing line, lately, in this county, but the exertions of the officers and the prompt action of the court, has checked the movement in that line. Sheriff Bridger is an active and efficient officer, and at great cost to himself pursues the thieves and brings them to justice. This has had the effect of ridding the county of some notorious thieves.

The crops in the valley are looking well. A great breadth of barley has been sown, with a good deal of wheat, which has come up well and is in a luxuriant condition. Corn planting is just commencing.

The valley is settling up rapidly—Mr. Waters, who purchased the Yukipe ranch, arrived from Mariposa county this week, with his family and stock. He intends to cultivate a portion of it, and set out a vineyard, but it will be principally occupied as a stock ranch. Two other families came with Mr. Waters, and six or eight more are on their way.

The fruit crop promises well—the season has been propitious, and an abundant harvest may be expected.

Mr. Jacobs has removed to the American Hotel, where he will in future dispense the good things of life to the hungry. He provides an excellent table.

An election for city officers took place last week, which resulted as follows. Mr. Chapin was re-elected Mayor:

Mayor—G. S. Chapin.
Marshal—W. D. Kirk.
City Attorney—H. E. Ralf.
Assessor—S. Rolfe.
Treasurer—R. F. Walkinshaw.
Common Council—John Brown, D. Dixon, W. C. I. Morse, C. S. Kingston, N. Vise.

Fourth of July—83d Anniversary of American Independence.

With pleasure we call the attention of our readers to the announcement, in another column, of the Southern Rifles. The names of the gentleman composing the committee, guarantee that this will be a grand affair. The grounds will be made entirely level, and as the trees of the Arroyo Seco form a delightful shade, it will be cool and pleasant. Rooms will be prepared for dancing, and everything will doubtless be arranged to the satisfaction of all. It will be necessary that all should have their tickets as early as the 6th of June, so as to enable the committee to complete their arrangements as soon as possible. Proceedings of the day will be announced in time.

New Goods, &amp;c.

Messrs. Winston & Welsh, druggists, have this week completed the improvements on their store. It has been refitted and painted, and a choice selection of drugs just procured from San Francisco.

Messrs. Prager & Morris have received by steamer a large addition to their elegant stock of ladies goods, which should be inspected early, to secure the new and beautiful styles. There is not a neater store, nor a more varied stock, out of San Francisco.

Mr. Ducommun has imported from France an elegant stock of fancy goods, and has just returned from San Francisco with an extensive assortment of goods selected for this market.

From the number of heavily laden wagons which were dispatched from town this week, together with the long train of pack mules, we should judge that a large amount of business has been transacted by our merchants. Although this is the "dull season," we conclude from the above facts that quite a lively movement is kept up in merchandize.

A young grizzly was on exhibition at the Bella Union this week, which had been caught at Fort Tejon—it is about three months old, and quite a pet. We believe our friend "Buck" has it in charge, to convey to the "express menagerie" in San Francisco.

KILLING.—On Monday night a difficulty occurred between two persons, across the river, in what is called the Puellito, named Dolores Sepulveda and Ramon Olivas, resulting in the death of the latter. Sepulveda was arrested and is now in jail.

Major Blake, in command of the military post at Fort Tejon, arrived in our city on Tuesday, on his way to San Diego, on business connected with his command.

Mr. Banning was awarded the contract for Government transportation from San Pedro to Fort Tejon at $4.74 per 100 pounds. Mr. Timms offered proposals at $4.75. The hay contract was not awarded. There were seven bidders, each at $50.

PORT OF SAN PEDRO.—Arrived, on Wednesday, schooner Julius Pringle, Georgia, master, from San Francisco, five days, via Santa Barbara; assorted

A Trip to Fort Tejon.

Sebastian Reservation—Tulare Valley—Fishing—Hunting—Dottings Down by the Way, &c.

FRIEND HAM.—How forcibly we are reminded of the phrase, "tempus fugit," when one starts out on a tour of pleasure. It was my fortune some time since to make an excursion to Fort Tejon, Sebastian Reservation, and the surrounding country. A description of the former place will be found in your November file of last year. I will endeavor to give you now, briefly, my "experience."

Fort Tejon, at this season of the year, is the most romantic and beautiful spot I ever visited in California. The noble old oaks are in full leaf, and on the plains and mountain sides, mother nature has almost excelled herself, carpeting them with flowers of every hue, giving to the eye one of the most beautiful prospects imaginable.

Fort Tejon is at this time the head quarters of the First Regiment of Dragoons, Major George A. H. Blake, in command; Lt. W. Th. Magruder, Regimental Quartermaster; Lt. Charles H. Ogile, Adjutant of the Regiment; Lt. I. T. Mercer, in command of company F, First Dragoons; Dr. P. G. S. Tenbroeck, Assistant Surgeon; George C. Alexander, Sutler.

The Sebastian Reservation is situated in the Tulare Valley, about twenty miles from Fort Tejon. The Reservation is under the management of Col. Vineyard, an estimable and worthy gentleman, formerly, I believe, a resident of Sacramento; any one visiting the Reservation, can rest assured of receiving genuine hospitality from the Colonel, and his son-in-law, Dr. Hayes, who is the resident physician of the Reservation.

The Sebastian Reservation was located and established in the year 1853, and was under the control and management of Lieut. Beale, assisted by S. A. Bishop, Esq. There is at the present time some twenty adobe buildings on the Reserve. The location of the Reserve is unexceptionable; any quantity of fine spring water, and the land of the finest quality, and capable of irrigation.

One cannot fail to be impressed with the gorgeousness of the scenery of the Tulare Valley, as it breaks upon your view, as you emerge from the cañon. From Fort Tejon to the mouth of the cañon is about three miles, and the fall, in that short distance, is at least three hundred feet; so you may form some idea of the climate. In extreme cold weather, at the Fort, you may mount your horse, and in the short space of half an hour find almost perpetual summer weather—in the Tulare Valley.

Samuel A. Bishop, Esq.'s residence is some eight miles from Fort Tejon, situated upon a romantic spot overlooking the plain. He has made, and is still making, improvements on his place. Here we were kindly received by Mr. Bishop and his amiable lady, and also met our friend, Fred Ekerlin, Esq., who has quit the busy scenes of city life in San Francisco, and is now a ranchero; he is a partner of Mr. Bishop, and they are largely engaged in sheep raising—success, we say, attend them.

One, among the many objects of interest at Mr. Bishop's ranch, are the camels brought through to this country by Lieut. Beale, and left in charge of Mr. Bishop; there you may see them quietly grazing on the hill sides, or in the valley, perfectly tame, under the charge of the Turk, Hijo, who is perfectly happy, apparently, with his charge.

I presume ere this you have learned of the safe arrival of Lieut. Beale at Washington city; of course we all await with great interest the action of Government upon his report. I also noticed that our fellow townsman, J. Lancaster Brent, Esq., is now in Washington, and has been appointed a visitor to West Point.

Kern Lake is about sixteen miles from the Reservation, and abounds with small fish of every description. Some three miles from the Lake, will be found a slough of the Kern River, where the votaries of Isaac Walton can rest assured of finding trout, averaging from one to fifteen pounds each—glorious sport; the bait generally used at this time of year is the grasshopper, with which the plain abounds.

To any one fond of fishing, hunting or field sports of any description, I would say, shoulder your gun or rifle, take a good supply of ammunition, select some good lines and hooks—small size are preferable—and wend your way to that part of the world; always, of course, supplying yourself with the necessary "doings" for the inner man. Arriving at the Fort, enquire for Darling, the justly celebrated bear hunter, and place yourself entirely under his guidance, and you will have a glorious time.

The hospitality extended to citizens, at Fort Tejon, by the officers of that post, is too well known for one to comment here upon it; suffice it to say, that no one ever leaves the post without being deeply impressed with the kindness and affability of the officers stationed there.

By the way, I have to inform you, as well as the many friends of Lt. Col. B. L. Beale, U. S. A., that he met with a serious accident in New York city in April last. While crossing Broadway, an express wagon ran against him, knocking him down, breaking his arm above the elbow, and three of his ribs. He was expected to join the regiment at Fort Tejon this month, but on account of this unfortunate accident it is impossible to say when we shall greet the worthy Colonel again.

Hoping soon to grasp you by the hand, and supposing that I have wearied your patience sufficiently, I subscribe myself yours always,

PORTE MONNAIE.

SEBASTIAN RESERVATION.—Col. Vineyard, the Superintendent of this Reservation, visited our city this week. The affairs of the Reservation are in a prosperous condition. The Indians are quiet and contented—large fields of grain have been sown this year, which are in good condition. All kinds of fruits are grown on the Reserve; the grape vines are healthy and promise well; there are, besides, the apricot, peach, pomegranate, pears, apples, &c. &c.—all doing well, the climate being suitable for their cultivation. Other particulars respecting the Reservation, will be found in the communication of our friend "Harrie."

The fine steamer Senator arrived at the Port of San Pedro at an early hour on Thursday morning, bringing us files of Atlantic papers to 20th April. Among her passengers, we notice the arrival of Wm. M. Johnson, Esq., U. S. Coast Survey, and his lady; Miss Foster; our representative, Hon. Henry Hancock; H. N. Alexander, and C. M. Bache, U. S. Coast Survey.

To J. W. Sullivan, we are under obligations for a package of papers.

Utah Territory—Settlements South and West of Salt Lake City.

Our readers will have observed, that in a previous number of the Star, we gave a brief account of the cities north of Salt Lake City. We are now enabled to give a description of the settlements lying on the west and south.

About forty miles west of Salt Lake City is a fort called E. T., the name derived from one of the Twelve Apostles, Ezra T. Benson, who first located that place, and in fact now owns the principal portion of the property there. This, with two other cities, is situated very pleasantly in a valley called Toelle. The other cities are Grantsville and Toelle City. In this valley, large quantities of grain are raised. The mountains surrounding are covered with valuable pine timber; from them, the greater portion of the lumber used in Salt Lake City is procured. South-west of this, is Rush Valley, where the U. S. Reserve was laid off by Col. Stepto, for army purposes, during his sojourn in 1855-6. These valleys are valuable as stock ranges.

From Salt Lake City, south, there are scattering houses and farms for eight miles, when we arrive at Big Cottonwood Fort, small, but located on a large stream of water, the principal portion of which is carried by canal through the southern part of Salt Lake City, and throughout its whole course of eight miles, is made available for irrigation. Five miles south, is Little Cottonwood Fort. This is also situated on a large stream, which is used for irrigating an extensive tract of country. Persons residing here are all farmers, each family being secured land for cultivation. South-east, about five miles, is another fort, called Willow Creek, or Drapersville, and south two miles is the Hot Springs and boundary line of Salt Lake and Utah counties. We next arrive at Lehi or Dry Creek Fort. This place contains some 500 inhabitants, who have large tracts of farming land; the water used for irrigation is taken out by canal, of a stream called American Fork, some four miles further south. The land upon this stream as also surrounding Lehi Fort, is very valuable for raising vegetables. Potatoes are raised at these places in larger quantities than in any other part of the Territory. Three miles south of American Fork is Battle Creek, or Pleasant Grove, situated very pleasantly upon the side hill. Water is scarce here, which frequently prevents the maturing of the crops. Eight miles further south, is Provo City. It is watered by Provo River, which is the largest in the Territory, with the exception of Bear River. This is a fine stream, abounding in trout and fish of all kinds. It empties itself into Utah Lake, upon which is situated several fisheries which afford employment to a large number of men. Provo City is a large city—next in size and population to Salt Lake City. It is laid off in 12 acre lots, and the suburbs into ten and twenty acre lots, but at some seasons of the year it is flooded with water, owing to the overflow of the river, which makes the city very unpleasant, especially in the spring of the year.

We next come to Springville, the most pleasantly situated town in the Territory—seven miles distant from Provo. Three streams of water pass through it, which irrigate some 2000 acres of land, owned by the citizens of the place, upon which are raised excellent crops of small grain. Still south seven miles we arrive at Spanish Fork, upon which a fort is situated, with some 600 inhabitants, and also an Indian farm containing several hundred acres of land, and located and established by Dr. Garland Hurt, Indian agent in 1856. By traveling four miles further south, we make Petetnet City, a pretty place, containing some good farming lands. The next place we strike is Summit Creek, upon which a Fort is built, but owing to the severity of the weather crops seldom mature. Salt Creek, or Nephi City, is situated some twenty miles south of this, the country between being entirely occupied as stock range. This place is noted for its abundant supply of plaster of Paris, which is used in all the finest buildings in the Territory. It has also a large quantity of arable land, well watered. South-east some forty miles is San Pete Valley, celebrated for its coal mines and large quantity of arable and grass lands. It contains two Forts, one of which is inhabited principally by Danes, the other by Americans. In this valley Dr. Hurt also established an Indian farm for the benefit of the Utah Indians. They cultivate it themselves, having a Mormon to superintend. From this place south-west six miles, and from Salt Creek south six miles, is Fillmore City, the capital of the Territory. At this place is the State House built by Government—a large and handsome red sand stone building. There are no other good buildings in the city, and very little good land nearer than six miles. It is watered by Chalk Creek, the bed of which is solid chalk, and a good article. The people residing here are mostly poor, having no market nearer than Salt Lake City for their grain, and that at a distance of 160 miles.

South twelve miles is Coon Creek, upon which is situated another Indian farm for the benefit of the Parvante Indians. South seventy-five miles is Beaver City. The land surrounding is good, and has sufficient water, but crops are seldom matured on account of early frosts. Parawan is the next city, south of Beaver, some fifteen miles. This is the prettiest fort in the Territory, the centre of which is divided into lots, beautifully cultivated as gardens. This fort was located and planted by G. A. Smith, one of the Twelve Apostles, and cousin of Joseph Smith, the founder of Mormonism. He owns the principal buildings in the fort, having several of his wives and families residing there. Next is Cedar City. In this place has been found large quantities of iron ore. A company for the working of it has been organized; they have foundries and all necessary materials for casting, &c., but not having efficient workmen, have accomplished very little in manufacturing. This city contains some 1000 inhabitants, who raise sufficient grain for their own consumption.

There are, in addition, three or four small forts and settlements south of this place—one at Panther Creek, another on Santa Clara, and the last one, Los Vegas, which is in the Territory of New Mexico. These are all the settlements owned by the Mormons south of Salt Lake.

All these settlements, as also those north, are governed by a President, Bishop and Council. In these men, authority and power is vested to govern and control all, temporally and spiritually. Nothing is done without consulting them, and if any should be guilty of acting in any business matter, without this consultation, they are arraigned before the Council and cut off from the Church, for disobedience and disregard of the servants of God.

From Hon. W. M. Gwin we have received several valuable Congressional publications.

Wells, Fargo & Co. favored us with files of papers by this arrival.

[COMMUNICATED.]

Important to Vineyard Proprietors.

We call the attention of the vine growers of Lower California, to the important advertisement of Mr. J. Rowlandson.

In all European wine countries, the business of wine making is mainly divided into two parts, namely, the grower and the wine merchant; the former attends to the culture of the vine and pressing, after which, in many cases, it passes over, by purchase, into the hands of the wine merchant, who find the requisite casks.

More frequently, however, the grower keeps the must until it has undergone the first or rapid fermentation, after which it is sold to the wine merchant, who carefully attends to its future management. By this means, the vine grower has the produce of his labor more speedily converted into money. In Europe, a few of the more wealthy vineyard owners keep their produce until it is fitted for general sale, as is now done in California, by a few who are possessed of capital. It is quite evident that this rule cannot generally obtain, and as we may safely assert that no wine is fit for market until the second year, and really fine cannot be produced under five years, it will at once be seen how advantageous to the small proprietor, is the offer made to them by Mr. Rowlandson.

In justice to that gentleman, it is only right that we ought to inform our readers, that he is one of the most eminent European agriculturists, having obtained no less than eight prizes from the R. A. Society, of England, for agricultural essays; and is the author of many other works, some of which treat of the subject of fermentation. We have seen the testimonials given to him by some of the first chemists, geologists and engineers of the day; amongst the latter is the celebrated Robert Stephenson, the deviser of the iron tubular railway across the Conway, the Menai Straits, and the St. Lawrence. In addition to which his abilities have been certified by some of the most wealthy and distinguished of the British Peerage, as well as by many members, including the Speaker of the English House of Commons.

SANTA BARBARA, May 19, 1858.

News was received this morning at this place, that two Frenchmen had been killed in the neighborhood of San Luis Obispo; their money stolen and a woman in their company abducted. The inhabitants organized a committee of vigilance, and having captured one of the murderers, (by name Santos,) hung him. The remainder of the gang passed through Santa Barbara at an early hour; a messenger was sent forward to pass them and have them stopped at San Buenaventura, if possible.

On Saturday and Sunday nights, the upper part of town contributed its quota of police cases. Several fights occurred, during one of which an attempt was made to shoot officer Hester—the perpetrator escaped. Several cases were brought before Justice Sackett on Monday, who apportioned the rewards according to merit.

LICENSES.—It appears that "free groceries" have been very common in our city, liquor being dispensed free from city license. In such cases the genuine "minnie whiskey" is dealt out to all comers, and here it is that the Indians procure their supplies. To prevent, if possible, the degrading scenes which are of weekly occurrence among the Indians, warrants were issued against all suspected persons, and those found guilty duly punished.

FINED.—Marjildro Moriso, found guilty of selling liquor to Indians, was brought before Justice Sackett and fined $100, he being an old offender. So profitable is this trade, that one fellow stated he could afford to pay a $40 fine monthly. The fine in this case will cut in a little to the profits of the nefarious traffic.

THE LAURA BEVAN.—Fears are entertained that the schooner Laura Bevan, Capt. Morton, is lost, as nothing has been heard from her since she cleared from San Pedro—some twenty days since. Having had freight for Santa Barbara and Point Conception, and not putting in at either place, it is a sad probability that she may have been lost between those two points.

EXCURSION TO SAN DIEGO.—The steamer Senator arrived at San Pedro on Thursday last, from San Francisco, at an early hour in the morning. Previous notice having been given by her worthy commander, Capt. Thomas Seely, of his intention to make an excursion to the above named place, and invitations having been extended to the citizens of this city, many availed themselves of the opportunity.

FOR THE STATE PRISON.—Mr. Joseph Bridger, Sheriff of San Bernardino county, arrived in town on Monday last, bringing with him three prisoners, convicted of horse stealing. They were lodged in the county jail, to await passage by the Senator.

THE CAMELS.—These strangers, at present ranching near Fort Tejon, made a "visit" to our city this week, and attracted considerable attention. There were eight of them—all in good condition, the climate seeming to agree well with them.

We very much regret to learn that Col. Beale, so well and favorably known here, sustained very serious injuries in New York; he was knocked down by an express wagon, in Broadway, which fractured his arm, and broke several of his ribs.

An interesting letter from Fort Tejon will be found in our columns to-day, over the signature of "Harrie."

ICE CREAM SALOON.

MR. TRUDELE, announces to the public that on SUNDAY, (May 23d,) he will open an Ice Cream Saloon, on Main Street, opposite the Montgomery House, where Ice Creams, Fountain Soda, Syrups, Cakes, &c., can be had from 10 A. M. to 12 P. M.

A private apartment has been fitted up expressly for the reception of families.

He respectfully solicits the patronage of his friends and the public generally.

Los Angeles, May 22, 1858.

An author who can write a book that will instruct, and at the same time amuse, is a public benefactor, whose praise should be heralded throughout the land. Unfortunately we do not know the name of the one whom we now wish to praise, but the book, which is the main thing, after all, is the manual of health, published by the Graefenberg Company of New York. It is replete with valuable information, and the astonishingly low price at which it will be sent to any part of the country by the California agents, places it within the reach of every one. Buy one, and our word for it, you will never regret the twenty-five cents.

Celebration of the Eighty-third Anniversary of the American Independence.

A GRAND PICNIC AND BALL WILL BE given on the Fourth of July next, at the beautiful place known as the Arroyo Seco, by the members of the "Southern Rifles." The grounds will be cleared and arranged in the most perfect manner. A good brass band and cotton band will be in attendance. It is expected that the band of the First Dragoons will be present. Every attention will be paid to guests. Conveyances will be in readiness to transport all who may be desirous of participating in the pleasures of the occasion.

Tickets for gentlemen and lady, or family, $5; to be had at Hellman & Bros., C. L. Ducommun, J. S. Mallard and Capt. W. W. Twist's.

It is desirous that those wishing tickets, procure them by the 6th of June, as many tickets necessary cannot be procured short of San Francisco.

Further details of the proceedings of the day will be announced in a future advertisement.
