DEPARTURE OF THE INSOLVERS

(At the request of the Government, the Insolvent and Improvident Act was temporarily suspended for the period of the war, but has now been permanently abolished.)

GRAND JURY REPORT

(For the year 1859, the Grand Jury report contains a detailed account of the proceedings and the results of the inquests held during the year.)

REMEMBRANCES OF THE KINSEY FAMILY

(For the year 1859, a series of letters and memoirs written by family members, providing a glimpse into their lives and the times they lived in.)

NEW YEAR'S BALL

(For the New Year, a ball was held at the Grand Hotel, with music, dance, and refreshments, highlighting the social life of the community.)

FURNITURE

(An advertisement for a furniture store, offering a variety of items, including chairs, tables, and sofas, with prices and specifications.)

DISILLUSION.

(An essay discussing the disillusionment and frustration felt by the author due to the broken promises and the reality of the situation.)