NEWS OF THE MORNING.

It is the peculiar privilege of California Legislatures to create two distinct pleasurable emotions in the minds of the people of the State, be their course of legislation what it may; the first is experienced when they are fairly organized, and the second when they adjourn sine die. The latter pleasure was vouchsafed the public yesterday, when the Twelfth Legislature made its final exit. With its departure ended one of the most wearisome, fruitless, disorderly and extravagant sessions that the State has ever been taxed with. The Senate, in particular, has been one of the weakest and most incompetent bodies ever convened in this city. The Assembly was in many respects superior in working talent to the lower branch of the preceding Winter, but the presence of a warring sectional element, and the want of efficiency in the presiding officer, long ago incapacitated it for prompt, orderly and harmonious action. The first half of the session was literally thrown away in impracticable attempts to organize, and in a still more impracticable and, as it turned out, entirely fruitless debate over Union Resolutions. The character of the laws passed reflects but little credit on the Legislature, and presents a strong argument in favor of biennial sessions. While the number of Acis is very much greater than that of either of the three previous years, being five hundred and thirty-eight in all, the number of laws of general utility and importance is proportionably much smaller, not one in twenty supplying any decided want in our statutes at large, or otherwise serving an extended useful purpose. The statutes for 1861 will be a monument of specia, and local legislation, a beacon and a warning, we trust, for Legislatures to come.

The last hours of the Legislature were characterized by the usual good-natured frivolities peculiar to such occasions. The House disposed of considerable business, however, before relaxing its gravity. Two reports were put on the Journals which deserve to be read. They relate to the petition from citizens of El pledge her to aid the Republic in a policy which Dorado county, asking the Legislature to pledge looks to aggression or to invasion!" But this the credit of the State for a certain sum of would be a flimsy kind of special pleading. UNION RESOLUTIONS.

The Union resolution adopted by the two branches of the Legislature was yesterday approved by Governor Downey. The resolution speaks the sentiments of the people of the State, and the Governor fairly represented them when he affixed his official signature to the same. We are indebted to the Executive office for an official copy of the concurrent Union resolution. We confess that we do not see how a man can approve officially the above resolution without being justly classed as a pretty thorough-Nymph wreck arrived to-night. going Union man. At the tap of the drum all the horses came up to the judges' stand and got off evenly togetyer for the First Heat—Orphan Boy took the lead from the start, and when passing the first turn he was about a length and a half ahead, and this gap he continued to widen, until after passing the half-mile pole, which was made in fifty-four seconds, but from this time until passing into the hemestretch, Dashaway, who had passed Ida and Kate, commenced to close the gap be tween himself and Orphan Boy, though the effort was fruitless, for the Boy came in winner of the heat from Dashaway babout half a length, Ida May being third and Kate Michell behind, in 1:51%.

Bets were freely offered after this heat that Orphan Poy would win the race, and in some instances these bets were offered at odds; and, so far as we could ascertain, the bets at odds were all taken. The bottom which Dashaway had shown on the last of the heat convinced many that, had the race extended another hundred yards, he would have won it. There were some present, too, who had seen Dashaway run at Tehama this Spring, and these gentlemen all had confidence that he would win the next two heats, and so small bets were made rather spiritedly for a while. would win the next two heats, and so small bets were made rather spiritedly for a while. At the end of twenty-five minutes the horses were again, at the tap of the drum, started for the Second Heat—On rounding the first turn it was clearly apparent that the race was entirely between Orphan Boy and Dashaway, for they left Ha and Kate behind, the Boy still leading Dashaway, a position which he held antil about the haif-mile pole, which was passed in fifty-four seconds. Here again Dashaway made such a burst of speed as is rarely witnessed and closed the gap between himself and the Boy, and around the turn and into the homestretch they came side by side. Here Dashaway made another tremendous effort, and, passing the Boy, took the pole and came in winner of the heat by about half a length, and distancing Ida May and Kate Mitchell, in 1:50%.

Before the result of the second heat was announced the rider of Orphan Boy made a complaint of foul riding against the rider of Dashaway. He asserted that Dashaway was not more than half a length ahead when his rider turned him so as to crowd Orphan Boy, thereby causing him to lose the heat. The judges, however, thought Dashaway had fairly won the heat and so declared. The betting at the conclusion of the second heat was more decidedly in favor of Dashaway than it had been in favor of Orphan Boy at the conclusion of the first heat. At the expiration of twenty-five minutes the horses were again mounted and started for the Third Heat—At the tap of the drum, Dashaway had an advantage of at least a length and a half, and this gap was never closed by Orphan Boy, though he made one fine brush in the endeavor to do so on the back-stretch and before reaching the half-mile pole, which Dashaway passed in fifty-four seconds, being precisely the same time it was passed on the two preceding heats. From this time until reaching the half-mile pole, which Dashaway passed in fifty-four seconds, being precisely the same time it was passed on the two preceding heats. From this time until reaching came in distancing Orphan Boy, and winning the heat race and money in 1:58.

A correspondent of the Union, writing from the above place, May 16th, says :

The citizens of this place met on Wednesday evening, May 15th, for the purpose of forming Union Club. A pledge of strong and uncon ditional Union sentiments was numerously signed, after which the officers of the Club were elected. Union resolutions were then efforts to execute the laws in all the States, also pledging aid for the support of the Government whenever duty calls. The Union men of this place are anxious that former political issues should be dropped, and one Union party formed in opposition to the Jeff. Davis Union party—a branch of which was recently organized. AUBUSS, May 18, 1861.

O. C. Wheeler, Secretary State Agricultural Society—
Dear Sir: On my return home, I immediately conferred with Mr. Woodin, of the firm of Smith & Woodin, relative to furnishing your society with water pipe, and obtained from him the following preposition, to wit: They will deliver upon the landing at S.n Jose the lumber, of redwood or spruce, at $23 per M, with the addition of four cents per lineal foot for boring three inch hole, and have the same ready for shipment by the 1st of July next. I should recommend the six by six redwood. It will stand the pressure of seventy-five feet head, and as for distributing there is no question. They will cut with square shoulders, the ditch must be straight line and even surface on the bottom. The expense of laying down the pipe after the ditch is prepared is very tritling. Three men will put on the rings, lead (with white lead) the joints and put down at least one thousand lineal feet per day.
