

There is not an objectionable man on it, from the first name to the last, and the Union voters of the State ought to be able to elect it by a majority to be counted by tens of thousands. But this end will not be accomplished without organization and without continuous and well directed labor. To the extent of their ability the Rattlesnake and Copperhead Democrats are refusing. They will, too, in all probability, run as Union Democrats, who favor a war constitutionally, in their opinion, carried on by the National Government. They are organizing Clubs in every county in the State, and if the Union men think their candidates will be permitted to walk over the field they will find themselves greatly mistaken. The Rattlesnake in California is not dead—it is only etched. It will soon raise its head again and be heard hissing its venom at the Administration and the Union cause.

THE recognized, it must be through the accession to power in the loyal States of a disunionist majority. The offensive policy destroys the prospects of the assistant rebels of the North. A successful rebel defense, on the other hand, may protract the war, discourage the people of the North, secure foreign recognition, and give the peace politicians ground favorable to their peculiar operations. Perhaps the Richmond journalists will shortly discover that their Chief comprehended the necessities of the situation better than his critics.

THE TOWN OF WILSON.—The new town of Wilson is located in Placer county, about seven miles northeast of Lincoln, and one mile south of Bear River. It is surrounded by a rich copper region, which is rapidly filling up with population. The ground was taken up under the State law by Eugene F. Gillespie. The site was surveyed and laid off by G. W. Colby of this city into blocks of 400 feet in length and 200 feet in width, the main streets being eighty feet wide. About one hundred lots have been taken and a number of houses have already been erected. A company has been formed for the purpose of supplying the town with water.

Two brave boys had fallen, killed instantly. One, lying mortally wounded, and about twenty more or less wounded by buckshot, as well as rifle and pistol balls. This band of heroes had here for nearly two hours bravely fought the enemy, and now, after the brave retreating to the cover of the cane brake, would concert an attack upon all sides but the immediate rear, and come out like grasshoppers from the cane brake, and strike the enemy in the rear, and cursing and threatening with the most terrible butchery if not at once surrendered; but with the brave Major Hubbard, our gallant boys followed, and at his command, rushed to their rescue, and almost immediately took shelter, and poured upon their foes such terrific showers of carbine and pistol shots, as to throw them into confusion, and force them to retreat again.

Once a large body rushed down the slope of the left, and had almost succeeded in dislodging our men there, but a lucky shot from a Section of our killed men, killed the leader, who was leading them, and they fell back also. Their wounded must have been numerous.
