CAUSE OF EARTHOUAKES .- An exchange thus discourses on this subject :

The soft air which fans the cheek of beauty into rosy The soft air which fans the check of beauty into rosy blushes, and bears to invigorated sense the refreshing perfume of Summer flowers, is potent enough to press upon the earth at the rate of fifteen pounds to a square inch. It is this pressure which keeps our pic-crust down. A light increase of the pressure would force it into the burning flood, for the globe is molten within, and agatated as a huge furnace, and a triffing decrease of pressure would suffer the struggling force to break and agitated as a huge furnace, and a trifling decrease of pressure would suffer the struggling forces to break through from below. Earthquakes invariably happen at a fall of the barometer-that is, when the air be-comes slightly thinner, less heavy, and consequently less capable of treading down the crust upon the tops of the imprisoned flames. Over a hundred miles of country the removal of the atmospheric pressure will sometimes amount to nearly 2,000,000 of tons, which is a sufficient relaxation of force to permit the outbreak of an earthquake. of an earthquake Touching the general subject of earthquakes, we are informed by scientific authority that in every part of the world the surface is subject to he shaken at times by movements taking place in the interior, and transmitted, somewhat like a wave, to distant regions. No country escapes these visitations, but in volcanic districts they occur more frequentiy than elsewhere; and, commencing in these, they have been known to pass beneath sea and land, from one hemisphere to another, till full one-eighth of the entire surface of the globe has been more or less disturbed by the movement. Such was the great Lisbon earthquake. Some countries are so subject to these disturbances that the habitations of the people are built low, with broad bases and substantial walls, with particular reference to their stability against shocks. This is the case throughout Central America, and in Chile, Peru, etc. Taking into account the whole surface of the earth, it is said, there is probably not a day that passes without the occurrence somewhere of a sensible disturbance of this kind-and hardly a month without one or more worthy of note. This has been the case from remote periods. The approach of these phenomena is stated to be heralded by several premonitory symptoms of an unmistakable character. The air appears to be affected in some respects, perhaps in its electric condition, and brute animals give evidence of uneasiness. Men sometimes are affected with dizziness, the atmosphere often becomes hazy, and the sun seen through it appears red and fiery. The weather suddenly changes, and rains appear in places unaccustomed to them. Before the shocks occur the air is generally still and the surface of bodies of water considerably disturbed. Such are some of the manifestations in regard to these visitors, and their occurrence elsewhere has been often noted by those who are curious in such matters. As earthquakes have been so common in all ages and countries, the people of California will probably conclude that a slight shake in the region adEASTERN ELECTIONS.

The Fenian Movement Abroad.

The Fenian Movement Abroad. New Yorz, October Sth, The Times' London letter of September 17th has the following relative to the Fenian excitement: Some fifty arrests have been made in Dublin, nearly as many in Cork, and a few in Liverpool, and some in the man-ufacturing towns of Lancashire. Among the rest, a few Irish Americans. For others rewards of two hun-dred pounds and one hundred pounds are offered. One Murphy, from Boston, on being arrested, said he should represent his case to Seward. On the mere mention of that name he was set free by the authori-ties at Dublin Castle. The panic at Cork, and other towns in the southwest, has not been diminished. There have been runs upon the local banks. Steamers and passengers' baggage have been searched for docu-ments and revolvers. A gunboat is cruising off Cork harb r to intercept Yankee ships said to be on the way to Ircland with arms for the Fenians. There is a lively demand for fire-arms the responsibility. sworn Fenians. There is a lively demand for fire-arms by those who mean to defend themselves. The notable features of the affair is the humble rank of those who have been arrested. They are small tradesmen, clerks, artisans, etc. The most considerable prisoner in Dub-lin is Taylor. The chief informer against the Fenians appears to have been one who had been advanced to the grade of Colonel in the great Fenian army, but who, having no pay, rations or forage suitable to the rank, had been suffered to go to the work-house. This unfortu-nate diraitary, brooding over his wrongs, concluded had been suffered to go to the work-house. This unfortu-nate dignitary, broading over his wrongs, concluded that low treason to his associates would be more profit-able than high treason against his sovereign Queen, and sold them to Sir Robert at the castle. This in-former, who has the credit of being the first to soil the Fenians, is said to have been a violent Orangeman, who went to Cork and pretended to become a Catholic and a patriot. Unless ships loaded with American Fe-nians, arms and supplies are on their way, and succeed in making a landing in spite of the iron-clads and gan-boats on the Irish coast, we shall not hear much more oats on the Irish coast, we shall not hear much of the Fenian organization in Ireland. QUERSTOWS, October 1st. —The Fenian prisoners were brought before the Police magistrates at Dublin yesterday. Among the number was the editor and pro-prietor of the Irish People newspaper. Barry, Coun-sel for the Crown, made a long speech. He said that within the last fortnight 3,500 pounds sterling had ar-rived from America to be expended in revolutionizing Ireland, and by that day's mail the Government had intercepted a letter for one of the prisoners named Lapper, containing a draft for 415 pounds sterling-on the house of Rothschild, and several other letters con-taining bills of exchange. The making of pikes had been extensively carried on. One of the prisoners had made two hundred of these murderous weapons. Nu-merous revolvers and breastplates were also found in possession of the prisoners connected with the Irish People newspaper. He quoted an incendiary para-graph urging the employment of force, from a number of that paper, which was about to be issued when seized. lowing account of a fire at that place: The first fire ever in Iore City broke out last night on after midnight, in the paint shop adjoining Farns-worth's blacksmith shop, on the south side of Main street, and in a short time the entire block of buildings are consumed, with the exception of the brick of M. Heffron and the frame of J. Sutherland. The latter was word by the greatest exertion. The following were entirely consumed: Blacksmith and paint shops owned by J. Farnsworth ; bakery, by B. Beatters ; Ione and reandah stables, by Ludgate & Surface ; Union Sa-loon, by Jack Miller ; Ringer's saloon, and the braber shop. Both of the saloons saved part of their fixtures and stock ; the bakeries saved nothing ; the stables saved all their harness, carriages, horses, etc., but lost their bay (about fifteen tons), and some grain ; the stage stock was all saved. If there had been the least wind, the larger portion of the town would have been consumed. Such a man must and will have an in-fluence for good; from such as you have sent you have no right to expect anything." no right to expect anything.

WHAT IS THE MATTER ?- Under this head, the H. Benton, Jr., a Union man, is running against the Copperheads nominated General Tuttle for Governor, with the hope of catching the army vote, but Tuttle's own brigade gave a large majority for Stone. A more recent attempt to ensnare the "boys in blue" was a humiliating failure. Governor Stone is running on a radical platform, has canvassed the State, and is confident of re-election by at least 25,000 majority. Lincoln's majority in Iowa last year was 39,479. EARLY COMPLETION .- The Central Pacific Railroad Company have been laying their plans for the operations of the year 1866. The surveys which have been in progress this Summer have developed a better line over the mountains than was anticipated, and the Directors, after a full ported murders : consideration of the work before them, have concluded that they can and will lay the track to the Truckee river next year. should expect to find after reading the speeches of General Logan and Congressman Ashley. The campaign in Ohio, on the Union side, has been a succession of ovations to the returned soldiers, and the magnitude of the assemblages addressed by General Cox has astounded the opposition. It is supposed the Buckeye loyal-ists will give Cox a majority nearly equal to that obtained by Brough when Vallandigham was a candidate. Indiana was regerded as an un-certain State two years ago. But the flagrant sedition of the "Sons of Liberty," the secret order which controlled the opposition, the popular sympathy with the soldiers and the lessons of the war have established the sulessons of the war have established the sulessons of the war have established the su-premacy of the Union organizations. Indiana is proud of the record she has made, and no doubt is entertained that she will once more, and finally, repudiate the party which endeavored to disturb her peace and disgrace her name. In Iowa there is no "Democratic" ticket. Thomas H. Benton, Jr., a Union man, is running against Colonel Stone, for the gubernatorial office, with a promise of Copperhead support, but the Ma-honey rebels, who agree with Ben. Wood and Alexander Long, refuse to sanction the bargain. The soldiers of Iowa are very wide-awake sup-porters of the Government. During the war tress, vie with each other in the emulation of working for the public good. All honor to the "noble army o martyrs!" No monumental marble records their he martyrs!" No monumental marble records their he-rolc deeds; but their memories shall remain on the pages of the history of medicine in California, an im-perishable legacy to the profession they have ennobled nd adorned ance with a military order issued by General Bennett, commander of the sub-district, Charleston, October 2d. All cases between whites and negroes are to be turned over to the Provost Marshal, and the military police will, for the present, te retained. The organization of the State militia is rapidly progressing in some sec-tions. The militia are to be subject to the orders of national officers, and to co-operate with them in the suppression of the prevalent lawlessness. General Bennett has issued an order directing his subordinates to assist in the formation of this State force, every member of which, on joining, must take the national oath of allegiance. The Herald's Raleigh correspondence says: The people of North Carolina, especially those around Raleigh, are decided in their approval of the emphatic way in which the State Convention disposed of the secession ordinance by declaring it not only null and rold, but to have always since its passage been so. The inhabitants are also represented as being extremely hostile to those men who assisted in plunging the State into rebellion. In the Convention, on October 4th, resolutions were introduced, but laid over for future action, expressing the utmost confidence in President Johnson, thanking him for the course he has pursued toward the erring people of the South, to the gratitude of all of whom it is believed he is entitled. Case of Young Ketchum.

NEW York, October 9th. This morning the counsel for young Ketchum an-nounced that he would put in a plea of guilty to the indictments charging his client with forgery.
