Lettuce from the United States.

By the American legate Capt. Sarge, which came from Chicago, after a passage of 18 days, or 10,000 miles, to the 18th medal of the 5th month last, and El Salvador, to the 15th of the 5th month this year. From this it is clear that the lettuce comes to us in several sorts, and that it is grown in different parts of the United States, as well as in our own country. It is probable that the lettuce in the United States is grown in the same manner as in our own country, and that it is cultivated for the same uses. The lettuce is a common and useful article of diet, and is much esteemed for its flavor and its nutritive properties.
