NIDASTA COURIER.

SATURDAY EVENING, JULY 20, 1858.

The United States have published various papers, in which they are in favor of the establishment of a new government in the territory of the United States, consisting of the states of California, New Mexico, and Texas, and the province of Lower California. The proposition was made by the President of the United States, and is now before Congress for consideration. The proposition is founded on the principle that the territory of the United States is not subject to any foreign control or authority, and that it is the duty of the United States to establish a government there, and to protect the inhabitants thereof from all foreign interference. The proposition is also founded on the principle that the territory of the United States is not subject to any foreign control or authority, and that it is the duty of the United States to establish a government there, and to protect the inhabitants thereof from all foreign interference.

DIANIN. 1859.

A W. SYNGE & CO.

FRIDAY EVENING, JULY 20, 1858.

The United States have published various papers, in which they are in favor of the establishment of a new government in the territory of the United States, consisting of the states of California, New Mexico, and Texas, and the province of Lower California. The proposition was made by the President of the United States, and is now before Congress for consideration. The proposition is founded on the principle that the territory of the United States is not subject to any foreign control or authority, and that it is the duty of the United States to establish a government there, and to protect the inhabitants thereof from all foreign interference. The proposition is also founded on the principle that the territory of the United States is not subject to any foreign control or authority, and that it is the duty of the United States to establish a government there, and to protect the inhabitants thereof from all foreign interference.

DIANIN. 1859.

A W. SYNGE & CO.

FRIDAY EVENING, JULY 20, 1858.

The United States have published various papers, in which they are in favor of the establishment of a new government in the territory of the United States, consisting of the states of California, New Mexico, and Texas, and the province of Lower California. The proposition was made by the President of the United States, and is now before Congress for consideration. The proposition is founded on the principle that the territory of the United States is not subject to any foreign control or authority, and that it is the duty of the United States to establish a government there, and to protect the inhabitants thereof from all foreign interference. The proposition is also founded on the principle that the territory of the United States is not subject to any foreign control or authority, and that it is the duty of the United States to establish a government there, and to protect the inhabitants thereof from all foreign interference.

DIANIN. 1859.

A W. SYNGE & CO.

FRIDAY EVENING, JULY 20, 1858.

The United States have published various papers, in which they are in favor of the establishment of a new government in the territory of the United States, consisting of the states of California, New Mexico, and Texas, and the province of Lower California. The proposition was made by the President of the United States, and is now before Congress for consideration. The proposition is founded on the principle that the territory of the United States is not subject to any foreign control or authority, and that it is the duty of the United States to establish a government there, and to protect the inhabitants thereof from all foreign interference. The proposition is also founded on the principle that the territory of the United States is not subject to any foreign control or authority, and that it is the duty of the United States to establish a government there, and to protect the inhabitants thereof from all foreign interference.

DIANIN. 1859.

A W. SYNGE & CO.

FRIDAY EVENING, JULY 20, 1858.

The United States have published various papers, in which they are in favor of the establishment of a new government in the territory of the United States, consisting of the states of California, New Mexico, and Texas, and the province of Lower California. The proposition was made by the President of the United States, and is now before Congress for consideration. The proposition is founded on the principle that the territory of the United States is not subject to any foreign control or authority, and that it is the duty of the United States to establish a government there, and to protect the inhabitants thereof from all foreign interference. The proposition is also founded on the principle that the territory of the United States is not subject to any foreign control or authority, and that it is the duty of the United States to establish a government there, and to protect the inhabitants thereof from all foreign interference.

DIANIN. 1859.

A W. SYNGE & CO.

FRIDAY EVENING, JULY 20, 1858.

The United States have published various papers, in which they are in favor of the establishment of a new government in the territory of the United States, consisting of the states of California, New Mexico, and Texas, and the province of Lower California. The proposition was made by the President of the United States, and is now before Congress for consideration. The proposition is founded on the principle that the territory of the United States is not subject to any foreign control or authority, and that it is the duty of the United States to establish a government there, and to protect the inhabitants thereof from all foreign interference. The proposition is also founded on the principle that the territory of the United States is not subject to any foreign control or authority, and that it is the duty of the United States to establish a government there, and to protect the inhabitants thereof from all foreign interference.

DIANIN. 1859.

A W. SYNGE & CO.

FRIDAY EVENING, JULY 20, 1858.

The United States have published various papers, in which they are in favor of the establishment of a new government in the territory of the United States, consisting of the states of California, New Mexico, and Texas, and the province of Lower California. The proposition was made by the President of the United States, and is now before Congress for consideration. The proposition is founded on the principle that the territory of the United States is not subject to any foreign control or authority, and that it is the duty of the United States to establish a government there, and to protect the inhabitants thereof from all foreign interference. The proposition is also founded on the principle that the territory of the United States is not subject to any foreign control or authority, and that it is the duty of the United States to establish a government there, and to protect the inhabitants thereof from all foreign interference.

DIANIN. 1859.

A W. SYNGE & CO.

FRIDAY EVENING, JULY 20, 1858.

The United States have published various papers, in which they are in favor of the establishment of a new government in the territory of the United States, consisting of the states of California, New Mexico, and Texas, and the province of Lower California. The proposition was made by the President of the United States, and is now before Congress for consideration. The proposition is founded on the principle that the territory of the United States is not subject to any foreign control or authority, and that it is the duty of the United States to establish a government there, and to protect the inhabitants thereof from all foreign interference. The proposition is also founded on the principle that the territory of the United States is not subject to any foreign control or authority, and that it is the duty of the United States to establish a government there, and to protect the inhabitants thereof from all foreign interference.